The Ocean Bank Case--Railroad Conductors' Life Insurance--Dry Goods--Finances and Trade--Dolian to be Hanged--Fire.

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.--The only important evidence in the case of S. P. Archer against the Ocean National Bank was that of P. S. Stevenson, Cashier of the Bank when it was robbed, and subsequently its President. He testified that he had no idea that the bank was to be robbed, and that he had never concocted the robbery nor had anything to do with its accomplishment.

The eighth annual Convention of the Railroad Conductors' Life Insurance Association of the United States and Canada is in session in the Grand Central Hotel. About 125 delegates are present. Mark M. Pomeroy delivered the annual address, and President Seymour made a brief speech, congratulating the Association on its growth and future bright prospects.

The present number of members is 1,334.
The dry-goods market during the past week has been quiet in both package and jobbing trade, though the traffic on the whole has been satisfactory, with fair movement in all classes of goods. The Western and Southern trade has taken assorted merchandise to a fair aggregate amount. The movement in woolen goods has been somewhat restricted by the mild weather. Foreign dry-goods has been in steady but moderate demand.

The Express in its financial column says: The banks generally are offering money more freely than last week, because better supplied with currency. The demand for legal tenders, on account of the crop movement, has almost ceased, and it is only reasonable to expect a return flow of money before long. The crops, both South and West, are being actively marketed, which promises well for a future legitimate trade.

The large amount of money that will be realized from the crops will stimulate the demand for manufactured goods and revive the industries of the country.
Lake and canal navigation will soon close for the season, when the railroads will find active and remunerative employment in moving the crops. Although the outlook is favorable, and although money may harden a little, the supply is likely to be abundant for all purposes, and we shall no doubt pass through the fall and winter months without any financial disturbances.

The trial of John Doan for the murder of James H. Noe ended yesterday afternoon. After the Judge's charge the jury retired for fifteen minutes, and returned with a verdict of guilty. The prisoner was sentenced to be hanged December 10th.

Last night a fire broke out on the first floor of No. 200 Fulton street, which, together with the basement, is occupied by Edward Langman, dealer in spices.
His loss on stock is $2,000. The second and third floors are occupied by Higgins & Co., manufacturers of glue. Their loss is $200. The building, owned by George Moore, is damaged $2,000.

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.--About ten thousand dollars have been subscribed for the relief of the Virginia City sufferers.

The creditors of a number of the lately sundered firms were in session this morning endeavoring to arrange con-promises. Propositions are under consideration, but no definite arrangements were made.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.--The Supreme Court took up the Union Pacific railroad case at noon yesterday. Attorney General Pierpont appeared in behalf of the Government, and made his maiden argument as Attorney General before the Court. Mr. Pierpont was filled with the remarks of Mr. Pierpont. He listened to with much attention. He adhered closely to the text of his brief filed yesterday, and argued that unless Court can find that the act of incorporation expressly provides that the payment of interest due on bonds issued to the company by the Government may be deferred by the company until the principal is due, then it should be the duty of the Court to find for the Government. He said the Supreme Court was the only safeguard between the Government and fraudulent claimants, and intimated that but for this safeguard the Treasury of the United States would be bankrupt.

Mr. Haig, of New York, followed in behalf of the company in a very able argument.

The President issued his proclamation designating the 25th day of November as a day of thanksgiving and prayer throughout the United States.

Chicago and the Northwest.

CHICAGO, Oct. 28.--A special from Denver says a few days ago four Italians were found in an out of the way house there, with their throats cut, and bodies gashed. Bloody knives were found near them. They were part of a band of strolling minstrels, and were undoubtedly murdered by their companions.

Their names were Giuseppe Gravano and Giuseppe Prora, father and sons, and Luigi Prora, a nephew. Hot pursuit of the murderers was made, and yesterday the Chief of the Detective Association here received word of the capture near Trinidad, Colorado, of two of the men, Bellatti and Sylvester Desulvane. The Italian residents here are greatly incensed, and are organized to punish the murderers.

Election returns, as they come in from Colorado, only confirm the tremendous victory of the Republicans, and render it certain that the Centennial State will be Republican.

The merchants of Chicago have called a mass meeting for Friday night, to protest against the action of the County Board in refusing to give each political party a proper representation among the Judges of Election. The Judges are now appointed in the interest of the Opposition party.

A number of disasters are reported on the lake, but no loss of life. Several schooners are ashore; two of these will prove total losses.

The Circuit Court at Rockford, yesterday, gave a decision quashing nine of the fifteen counts in the indictments against Ex-Senator Fyano and Francis subornation to perjury. The case will probably be called on the remaining counts next week.

Last July these dispatches contained a report that the patent suit between Henry P. Becker, of Dixon, Ill., and Y. A.
Throp, of Auburn, N. Y., relating to the validity of a patent for a brush for flouring mills, had been decided in favor of the former.

Mr. Throp states that the report was erroneous; that the decision was in his favor, and that the patent for the brush was reassigned to him by order of the Commissioner of Patents.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Oct. 28.--The Iriga the formality of a preliminary trial, were ing up to $40,000 to await the action of branch the Democrats have a majority of six. There were no disturbances, although the streets were crowded with people all day and nearly all night.

motion to quash the indictment against Joseph Loder will be denied, and that on his trial Mrs. Theodore Tilton will be interest is manifested in every meeting.

were made by several clergymen and laymen.

The inquest on the body of Henry C.
Johnson, who was murdered on Sycamore street, opposite the National Theater, on the night of the 26th, was begun this morning in the Coroner's office at about nine o'clock. The first witness examined was Richard Kitchen, private watchman on Third street, who testified that about 1 o'clock on Wednesday morning, as he reached the northwest corner of Sycamore and Third streets, going the rounds of his beat, he heard a scuffle and saw a crowd of men coming down Sycamore street; supposed it was a party speculated four or five could not give names as I did not know any of them.
Don't know as I would have recognized them again, if I had not seen them at the Station-house, but the men, with one exception, were not out of sight until locked up. A gentleman boarding at the Henrie House by the name of Burke ordered me to arrest the men, &c. Heard the parties say nothing as to who did the shooting, and I have no idea as to who did it. Remarked at the time that I could not tell whether the shot came from that crowd or from some other source. Capt. Churchill was the first man, I believe, who came to the arrest. [The witness then identified the prisoners present as the ones he had taken to the Station-house.]

The second witness sworn was Dr.
Carroll, who resides at No. 154 Broadway. He testified that he had made a post mortem examination of the body of Henry C. Johnson on Wednesday morning at ten o'clock. On viewing the remains he appeared to be about twenty-three years of age, five feet seven inches in height, of splendid physique, and weighing about one hundred and seventy pounds. On examining the body I found a pistol-shot wound in the back of the head, from which the blood oozed profusely; having dissected back the scalp I discovered that the ball penetrated the occipital bone, half an inch below the superior curvure of the line and two inches to the left of the external occipital protuberance. I then removed the calvarium, and found that the ball had passed into the brain, taking a forward and upward direction, and was found in three irregular fragments, together with several pieces of bone, scattered through the superior portion of the left hemisphere, wounding in its transit several important vessels, causing profuse hemorrhage. Said wound was sufficient to cause immediate death. I also found a contused wound on the forehead, evidently caused by falling forward after receiving the fatal shot. The fragments of the pistol ball, which I here present, weigh collectively 38 grains. The fragment compared with a bullet from Dol-ling's pistol, only differing 3 grains. The man must have been shot from behind, judging by the direction of the bullet, and the pistol must have been very close.

E. J. Burke sworn--Board at the Henrie House; was setting in the office of the hotel about 1 o'clock on the morning in question, in conversation with himself; started along Third street; heard the report of the pistol; thought nothing of it;
